DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. This application has been filed with informal drawings which are acceptable for examination purposes only. Formal drawings will be required if the application is allowed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. Claims 1-15, 18 and 24-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

The instant specification does not describe how the “threshold scale” is determined and the criteria used to ascertain it.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3662

4. Claims 1-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hayashida et al ('502) when taken in view of Poonsaengsathit et al ('357) or Loughmiller, Jr. et al ('605).

Hayashida et al discloses a vehicle location display of a navigation system. The system includes a database 38c and display 33 which includes a map at variable scales, i.e, the first, second and third screens are at different scales.

The difference between the instant independent claims and the Hayashida et al patent is the claims specify that the database contains a plurality of road segments having an associated road segment name.

Loughmiller, Jr. et al and Poonsaengsathit et al each teaches that a typical vehicle navigation system display has a digitized map database which includes plural road segments each having a road segment name. Further, note that Loughmiller, Jr. et al teaches that the street prioritization is scale dependent.

In view of Loughmiller, Jr. et al or Poonsaengsathit et al, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in this art to have modified the map database within the system of Hayashida et al by including road segment names to the road segments so as to more clearly detail the location and destination of a vehicle. Claims 1, 16, 24 and 27 are so rejected.

Dependent claims 2-15, 17-23, 25, 26, 28 and 29 are further provided by the combination of the above prior art.
